

GLOBAL PROCUREMENT

Westernex Global Procurement logistic services are without equal.

Our team comprises experienced customer service operators. They deal with all of your requirements and supervise your orders. In doing so, they work directly with our expert packaging team in our dedicated export yard. They also liaise with our in-house sea and air freight office to ensure smooth despatch.

Unlike others, Westernex is one of the world's largest importers and manufacturers of geological supplies.

Our Global Procurement team has access to more than 3,000 line items. These are stocked and stored in one of our 5,000m<sup>2</sup> warehouses. These assets alone provides clients with significant time and cost savings.

Our global procurement team can outsource all requirements if materials required are not already held in stock. We work with established contacts both locally and globally.

We work assiduously to provide you with the best availability and competitive prices.

In addition, we have direct representation in Africa and North America.

Westernex is a member of Quadrem and Procuri.
